

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Rockpress (Rocklea Pressed Metal Pty Ltd) is a Queensland-based engineering and metal workshop which has offered quality assured service and reliability to a broad spectrum of industry for over 40 years. Rockpress aims to grow its business in conjunction with committing to respecting the social and natural environment through proactive management of its activities, products & services.

Rockpress will adopt a sustainable approach to this growth by reducing or eliminating its negative impact on the social and natural environment.

For this to be achieved, Rockpress will be committed to:

- Using a risk management approach to all Federal, State and Local Government legal environmental requirements.
- Develop and maintain an Environmental Management System (EMS) within the IMS to control the interaction of the company with the environment.
- Establish, maintain and review objectives, targets and trends that reduce or eliminate negative environmental impact.
- Provide an environmentally aware and responsible workplace culture through the training of all Management & Staff.
- Promote positive environmental impact through proactive environmental management of existing operations and for the planning of future operations.

Rockpress will promote the goals of this policy with its internal and external stakeholders including PCBU's, officers, government, industry, suppliers, sub-contractors, staff, customers and community through proactive engagement and support.
